

Loading indicator for large orders

When accessing a cart containing 100+ products, the load time waiting for cart lines to appear was excessive. This delay caused some users to think the cart was empty or the page had frozen. A new, user-friendly loading message has now been added for carts containing products.