Notify user generates new password for admin-created users

An update has been made so the Notify User function in Advanced User Maintenance now generates a new password for users created by an Administrator. This will not apply when the user has registered themselves and already chosen a password and are just being approved by the Administrator.